

Thunderstorm Potential through Tuesday - Correction to graphic

15% chance of thunderstorm activity overnight across the Bay Area and Central Coast. The threat will lift north on Tuesday, leaving Monterey and most of San Benito out of Tuesday's threat. The rest of the Bay Area will continue to have a slight chance of thunderstorms on Tuesday. All thunderstorms chances will end by Tuesday night with North Bay being the last to exit the threat region.

KEY POINTS

- 15% chance for lightning into Tuesday
- Some thunderstorms may be dry
- Gusty outflow winds in excess of 35 mph near any high-based shower or thunderstorm
- Increased risk for grass fire ignitions and fire spread
